INTERNET FILING SYSTEM (IFILE) -- ADDITIONAL RULES INFORMATION

For any filing that proposes changes to rules that do not affect the premium that is charged to any existing or prospective policyholder, a listing of all proposed additions, revisions, or deletions must be provided along with supporting data/information for each of the proposed additions, revisions, or deletions.

Please see Explanatory Memorandum.

INTERNET FILING SYSTEM (IFILE) -- SUPPORT FOR RATES BY TERRITORY

For Homeowners, Mobile Homeowners and Dwelling Fire:

Separate support by territory must be provided for each program and policy type for which a proposed rate change is requested. If a series of programs and policy types include identical territory relativities, support for these identical territory relativities may be provided on a combined basis.

Support by territory must be provided even if the requested changes are uniform across all territories.

Support by territory must be provided for all territories even if the requested changes do not apply to all territories.

Support must include the actual experience (including but not limited to earned house years, earned premiums, and incurred losses) for the latest five years for the applicable programs and policy types and any other data used in the determination of the proposed changes by territory.

If the actual experience lacks credibility, it may be supplemented by a competitive analysis. This analysis must include the identity of the competitors, the effective dates of their rates or relativities, and full documentation of any adjustments to any competitor's rates. Competitor rates or relativities that have not been approved by the Office must not be used. Note: Citizens Property Insurance Corporation is not a competitor of insurers writing in the voluntary market and must not be used in competitive analyses.

A comparison of the present, the indicated, and the proposed base rates or relativities by territory must be provided along with a detailed explanation of the calculation of the indicated base rates or relativities and supporting data/information for the proposed base rates or relativities. This supporting data/information must include consideration of the need to balance responsiveness and stability in the selection of the proposed base rates or relativities and comments on credibility, predictive stability, tempering of the magnitude of changes, and specific limits or caps.

For Private Passenger Auto:

Please upload support for each coverage, by territory, of your base rate changes, as required by Rule 69O-175.003, F.A.C.

Support may consist of the experience of the filer by territory, the territory relativities of competitor companies, or the experience of a group of insurers by territory. If using competitor information, the identity, effective date, and method of any adjustments to the competitor relativities must be fully documented. Competitor rates that have not been affirmatively approved by the Office should not be used as any element of support.

Experience of the filer (or group) must include raw experience (on-level premium, losses, claims) and a complete description of the method used to arrive at indications from the raw data. Experience may be incorporated with competitor relativities.

A comparison of present, indicated and selected (or revised) territory base rates or relativities must be supplied and significant differences between the latter two should be explained.

INTERNET FILING SYSTEM (IFILE) RATE COLLECTION SYSTEM (RCS) VERIFICATION

In addition to the RCS submission, you must also provide the following additional information:

1. For EACH rating example on the RCS submission, you must provide an exhibit that shows step-by-step how you determined the rate in one territory. This exhibit must reference the applicable manual pages. Provide this exhibit in Excel, showing all formulas used.
2. If windstorm loss mitigation credits are used in rating (e.g., homeowners, dwelling fire, commercial residential property), provide the support described below. If these credits are not used in rating, skip to item 3.

For EACH territory set, you must provide an exhibit that shows for EACH territory how the applicable windstorm loss mitigation credit was determined.

If you are using the OIR-B1-1699/1700 credits, for each territory state whether the applicable windstorm loss mitigation credit for existing construction was determined using Terrain B or Terrain C. Note that Terrain C should be used for all territories completely contained within Broward, Miami-Dade and Monroe counties. Territories equivalent to Citizens' coastal account territories should also use Terrain C. In general, territories that are completely contained within Terrain C should be considered as being in Terrain C. Territories that contain both Terrain B and Terrain C should be considered as being in Terrain B.

For new construction in Terrain C, the applicable HVHZ credit should be used if the territory is completely contained within Broward and/or Miami-Dade counties, otherwise the Terrain C credit should be used. For Terrain B territories, use the credit associated with the minimum 2001 FBC Wind Speed zone found in that territory.

If you are using any other set of credits, provide an explanation as to how the applicable windstorm loss mitigation credit was determined for each territory.

3. Explain how you calculated the current average annual premiums and the proposed average annual premiums shown on the Rate Level Effect form(s). Provide examples of the calculations and supporting data. Note – if your explanation indicates that you use the percent changes to calculate the proposed average annual premiums, then you must explain how you calculated the percent changes and provide supporting data for these calculations. Note – your explanation must account for any revisions in base rates or any other rating factors. In addition, it must account for any changes in the amount of coverage you are providing to your insureds. A reduction in coverage is a rate level increase and an increase in coverage is a rate level reduction.

HO-5 Terrain Assignments

All assignments are made based on one-story structures, with non-tile roof coverings, without Hip roof shape, with low roof slope.

For New Construction, Broward and Miami-Dade are assigned to High Velocity Hurricane Zone (HVHZ). Monroe is assigned to Terrain C. All other Territories are assigned to Terrain A.

For Existing Construction, Broward, Miami-Dade, and Monroe are assigned to Terrain C. All other Territories are assigned to Terrain B.
