69O-138.003 Market Conduct Exam Methodology

The Office will prioritize scheduling and conducting market conduct examinations of insurers and other entities regulated by the Office based on the following selection methodology.

(1) through (3) No Changes.

(4) Priority 4 - Non-statutory Examinations:

(a) Complaint data analysis including the existence of a disproportionate number of claims-handling complaints,

(b) through (d) No Changes.

(5) An insurer has a disproportionate number of claims-handling complaints when one or more of the following conditions are met:

(a) Sustained elevation (alternative persistence test). The insurer’s complaint index is  $\geq 1.50$  in three of the last four quarters, with  $\geq 15$  claims-handling complaints in at least two of those quarters.

(b) Statistical outlier. The insurer’s rolling four-quarter complaint index is  $\geq 2$  standard deviations above the statewide mean for the line of business, with  $\geq 40$  claims-handling complaints over the four-quarter window.

(c) Adverse trend plus elevation. The insurer shows a three-consecutive-quarter increasing trend in the complaint index and the most recent quarter is  $\geq 2.00$  with  $\geq 25$  claims-handling complaints in that quarter.

(d) Post-catastrophe condition. Following a hurricane or tropical storm, the insurer meets the top 20 percent claims-handling complaint-to-claims ratio condition described in s. 624.3161(7)(b)1., F.S., which independently constitutes a disproportionate level for purposes of this rule.

(e) For the purposes of this subsection:

1. Complaint Index is determined by comparing the number of claims-handling complaints to the number of an insurer's open claims as reported by the insurer on the latest Catastrophe Reporting Form required to be filed under subsection 69O-142.015(1), F.A.C.

2. Only claims-handling complaints filed by a named insured or named beneficiary shall be used to determine if an insurer has a disproportionate number of claims-handling complaints.

3. A request made by a named insured, a named beneficiary, a representative of the insured or named beneficiary, or an insurer to participate in any form of alternate dispute resolution process shall not be included when calculating the Complaint Index.
